AT OUR SILVER LEVER WATCH at Rs. 35 before buying, and you will give it the preference before any other.

The Watch as it is now, is the result of 20 years experience in the Indian watch trade, and we guarantee it to be the most perfect watch ever offered to the public for such a small outlay.

Being the manufacturers ourselves, the buyer obtains the watch from first hand. This explains its cheapness.

Being entirely vegetable they can be safely given to the veriest infant or the oldest person.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 28.

No public telegrams have come through from London to-day up to the time of writing, and mail work having further taken up the attention of business people, there has been practically nothing doing in any branch.

COTTON is a dead letter so far as export trade is concerned, and in Seeds and Wheat there has been a decided pause pending further telegraphic news from home. Prices are nominally the same in every instance, but in Wheat the tendency is rather easier.

FREIGHTS are dull and unaltered, the following being current quotations :—

	Wheat	Cotton	Fwd.
Liverpool .....Ready.	16-3	18-9
Continent..... ,,	20		20
Open Charter.. ,,	20		20
Havre ..... ,,	20 to 21-3
Antwerp ..... ,,	20 to 21-3
Marseilles..... ,,	Nominal.
Trieste-Venice. ,,	20 at 2.

EXCHANGE is steady without movement in rates. The scarcity of private paper continues as marked as ever, and the banks, on the other hand, are not keen sellers forward. We quote :—

Bank Bills on demand.....	1-4d. per Rupee.
Do. Telegraphic	1-6 23-32d.
Do. 3 months' sight	1-6 15-16d.
Credits, 3 months' sight	1-6 29-32d.
Francs, 3 months' sight	2-0½.

GOVERNMENT PAPER has been firm, with a better demand. Previous speculators for the fall are covering in against their contracts for delivery at the end of the month, and as there is not a large amount of paper on offer, they have to pay full prices. Fours we quote at Rs. 97 15-16, Fours and-a-half par.

SHARES are very steady, with a general improvement in mills of Rs. 2½ to Rs. 5. Press companies, on the other hand, are flat and lower. Bank of Bombays have improved to Rs. 747½.

The Bombay Gazette

WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1885.

THE Bombay Government have issued a Resolution nominating a Commission to inquire into the operation of the Forest Laws in the Thana District. The constitution of the Commission bears out the promise which Lord Reay made last week in announcing its appointment. Of the seven members two are non-official, and while the Forest Department is adequately represented in Colonel Peyton and Mr. Wroughton, a due sense of proportion has been observed in constituting the Commission. The instructions which will serve for its guidance are equally broad. They provide, generally, for an investigation into the complaints of the forest tribes and villagers, and into the best means of supplying their legitimate wants in the matter of forest produce, and they invite suggestions as to the means whereby the regulations may best be made intelligible to the people, and hearty co-operation be secured in their enforcement. Then there will be special inquiries into the uses of rab and the best means of procuring it—inquiries in which the co-operation of Mr. Ozanne, who has lately given much time and thought to the matter, will be of much value. The announcement of the appointment of the Commission last week gave widespread satisfaction, and this will be increased now that the constitution of the Commission is known and the outlines of the inquiry have been indicated.

It may be taken for granted that one outcome of the frontier controversy with Russia will be the strengthening, permanently, of the military arrangements for the security of the country against a possible enemy. We may accept this prospect, however unwelcome, as inevitable ; but there is no reason why some of our friends should practise on our nerves by arguing that nothing short of an addition of from thirty to fifty thousand men to our European Army will do to begin with. As for the Native Army, that should be, we are told, greatly strengthened, and receive a large infusion of European officers. In fact it is asked that the existing army establishments shall be raised by fifty per cent., at a cost, which is clearly underestimated, of six millions sterling per annum. Seeing that the present cost of the army is fifteen millions, six millions will not be sufficient to increase it by one-half, to say nothing of the maintenance of the reserves which are also necessary. We find these calculations of the requirements of India, not in a service journal, but in the Statist, which is nothing if not economical. We are quite prepared to admit that, under circumstances which might arise, we should require possibly eighty or a hundred thousand British troops, with an equal or superior Native Army alongside, to put the danger of invasion out of the question ; but it is quite a different thing to propose that such immense forces should form the peace establishment of India year in year out. In the first place, it would not be possible to add fifty thousand, or even thirty thous

CONFERENCE OF AGRICULTURAL DIRECTORS.

A Conference of Directors of Agriculture in the North-West Provinces, Oude, and Punjab, has been held here to discuss the establishment of an Agricultural College at Dehra for improvements in the breeding of cattle and the promotion of veterinary science, with the view to preventing the ravages of disease and the consequent destruction of the cultivators' stock.

A LECTURE AT POONA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, JULY 28.

The Rev. Luke Rivington delivered a lecture on "Heredity: its relation to the formation of character," this evening, before a large audience, at the Albert Edward Institute. The Governor was present. The conclusion which may be drawn from the reverend gentleman's discourse is that heredity has nothing to do with character, but that will is the potent factor in forming the career of an individual.

A RACING DISPUTE.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LAHORE, JULY 28.

In the suit instituted here by Mr. Fitch, the judge of the Small Cause Court, Lahore, has written a letter to-day exonerating the defendant from any dishonourable intention. His honour says the defendant admitted the debt, but merely questioned the plaintiff's right to sue, there being other remedies for recovering racing debts. The letter adds that statements in the Small Cause Courts are recorded briefly. The defendant is legally advised to institute an action for defamation.

A TELEGRAM to the Pioneer states that Sir Evelyn Baring will shortly return to his post in Egypt.

AT Broach, we learn, it has continued to rain copiously night and day. Sunshine is very badly wanted; but when our correspondent wrote on Sunday there was no prospect of a break.

MR. EDWARD CLARKE has made a serious mistake, I think (writes "J. M. M."), in airing his grievances in the papers, and complaining that he has been slighted by the Government. He may be right in hinting that personal ill-will in certain quarters will account for his having been passed over in the appointment of Law Officers of the Crown; but it is not good form for a man of his distinction at the Bar to show his vexation so plainly. By doing so he can only delight the enemies, whoever they may be, who wished to do him an injury. In political life the "slings and arrows of outrageous fortune" are met by his friends is, Tace, sed memento. The opportunity for paying them off is sure to come round to him, if he only waits patiently for it.

OUR London correspondent says:—The Pall Mall Gazette's new departure in sensational journalism has created far more excitement in London than the death or Gordon or the change of Government did. Mr. Samuel Morley vouches for the high-mindedness of the editor of the Pall Mall, and says that he cannot have published his horrible revelations of criminal immorality in London with any other than the purest of motives. This is quite possible. Mr. Stead has shown in his past career that he is an emotional and credulous enthusiast. He had a good deal to do with getting up the Bulgarian atrocity agitation; he was the eager dupe a few months since of M. Lessar and Madame Novikoff; and there is no saying to what lengths such a man will not go when he is urged forward in a new career against vicious men by such ardent spirits as Mrs. Josephine Butler and her associates. The editor himself pleads that he was anxious to further the Criminal Law Amendment Bill, the object of which is to provide fresh securities for the protection of young girls; but similar excuses are laughed at when they are put forward by M. Zola for a plainness of speech in describing the most disgusting details of a licentious life which has been equalled and even outdone by the authors of "The Maiden Tribute of Modern Babylon." Any good that might possibly result from such publications is far outweighed by the certain evil they effect in familiarising tens of thousands of people with practices which they never dreamt of, and which are narrated in piquant language calculated to awaken instead of restraining sexual passion. As for the Criminal Law Amendment Bill, it is an exceedingly dangerous measure, which, if passed, would create a police tyranny in England. Mr. Broadhurst had the courage last night to speak out very plainly on the subject, and his very sensible remarks will prevent the passing of the Bill in its present objectionable form.

SENHOR CRISPINIANO FONSECA has been appointed Judge of the High Court of Goa, and Senhor Ennes the Advocate-General.

ON the recommendation of General Sir Peter Lumsden the silver medal of the Royal Humane Society has been conferred upon Torrez Baz, of the Punjab Infantry, one of the escort of the Afghanistan Boundary Commission, for saving the life of Mouzoffer Khan, another sepoy, in the River Hari Rud, Afghanistan, on April 19.

THE old English sport of cock-fighting still relishes its popularity in India. Last week at Bangalore twenty seven men were tried under the Cruelty to Animals Act for having indulged in the pastime of cock-fighting for money considerations. The case was proved against them, and eight were fined Rs. 5 each, with the alternative of ten days' imprisonment; one was sentenced to receive 15 cuts with a rattan; ten were dismissed, and the remainder, being military men, were handed over to the authorities to be dealt with according to military discipline.

THE Allahabad paper terms the recent case of Laidman vs. Hearsey a painful matter in more ways than one. The imputations made by Captain Hearsey against Mr. Laidman were of two kinds: first, a general charge of habitually using offensive language to natives in his court; and, secondly, a specific charge relating to a particular occasion. Our contemporary observes:—"As the matter stands, it is impossible to say whether the jury regarded all or only some of the imputations as established, and to what extent Mr. Laidman's character is affected by the verdict. His position is now most painful to contemplate. His punishment has already been a severe one in the exposure to which his conduct has been subjected. That conduct indeed admits of no defence, even if we go no further than his own admissions. To represent it as a common case of intemperate language is a dangerous mistake. He was not charged as a private person might be with using harsh expressions, but as a judge with abusing his authority. No one will wish to press hardly upon him now. It may be hoped that opportunities of public usefulness are still before him, and that by availing himself of these he may cause the past to be forgotten. There is no reason why such opportunities should be closed to him, but there is an opportunity which he should not have, and that is, of bringing the same of justice into contempt."

Shah-i-Punjab understands that Mr. [illegible] the Director of the Indian Section [illegible]ington Museum, has been suc[illegible]ing to introduce the phulkari [illegible] of relief to the poorer classes [illegible]

[illegible]been brought to the notice of the [illegible]dia that no rule exists regulating [illegible] under which officers of Govern[illegible] to Native Chiefs for pecuniary contributions towards public objects. As it is for many reasons undesirable that such applications should be made except with the permission of superior authority, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct that in future no officer of Government shall ask or accept pecuniary aid or subscriptions from Native Chiefs or officials of Native States in pursuance of public objects, except with the sanction previously obtained of the local Government to which he may be subordinate.

A TABULAR statement issued by the Director-General of Railways as to the position of the Indian lines constructed and in progress on the 31st of March last, shows that the guaranteed railways had on that date 109 miles in progress and 47 miles not commenced; the assisted railways had 758 miles in progress and 40 not commenced; the State Railways Imperial 1,164 and 427; and the State Railways Provincial 420 and 109. The figures for the State Railways of Native States are 438 and 33 respectively, while the East Indian had 9 miles in progress. This gives a grand total of 2,897 miles in progress and 256 not commenced. The Bolan Railway and its extension to Quetta, with the Shebo-Khojak extension, are not included in the above return, as they were not at that time sanctioned.

IN the supplement to a recent issue of the British Burma Gazette there is an interesting account of experimental cultivation in the Arakan Hill Tracts. Mr. Fanshawe, who is in charge of the current duties of Deputy Commissioner there, seems to have entered into the work of experimental cultivation con amore, and has scored some successes, though in other cases he has failed. Coffee, for instance, has proved disappointing, but tea has been a great success. At Kyaukpandaung there are now upwards of 12,000 small tea-trees which are "getting on splendidly." This of course proves the possibility of tea-planting, but before this industry is taken up by private capitalists the labour difficulty must be got over. The peasantry of the Hill Tracts will not supply the necessary labour. They are too indolent to do regular work. Coolie labour would have to be imported, and as for their first year or two at least, the coolies would suffer greatly from fever, and desertions would be frequent, labour would be very expensive, and regular labour difficult to obtain at any price. For these reasons regular planting on a large scale seems impossible at present.

A REUTER'S telegram from Rome says:—"Dr. Walsh, the newly-appointed Archbishop of Dublin, has been summoned to Rome for the ceremony of consecration. He will at the same time receive instructions from the Pope, who is understood to desire that Dr. Walsh's nomination should not be interpreted by the British Government as a hostile act on the part of the Vatican."

THE Paris Chamber have agreed to a vote of 400,000f. for the education and board of the seventh child in French families. This is the revival of an obsolete law of the Revolution Within the last few years several parents with seven children have called on the State to fulfil its legal obligation, but these applications have been evaded. The anti-Malthusians in the Chamber have now, however, secured a triumph. Some estimate the number of seven-h children at 50,000; but State adoption is to be limited to those in necessitous circumstances—a restriction to which objection was taken, but which was carried by 260 votes to 121. The law of 1805 limited the privilege to boys, and the Chamber has placed all seventh children on an equality, irrespective of six. The adoption is not to take effect till the age of six, and will terminate on the completion of the child's education.

A CORRESPONDENT with the Boundary Commission gives the following news under date 14th July:—The Amir has publicly notified his appointment to the G. S. I., and ordered a salute of 100 guns, and an illumination of the Herat city for three nights in commemoration of the event. Fresh Afghan reinforcements with breechloaders are reported to be starting from Kabul for Herat. All remains quiet in Herat city. The strengthening of the fortifications is rapidly proceeding under the supervision of Captains Yate and Peacocke. The rumours of Sirdar Isa Khan's defection in Turkistan are unconfirmed. No fresh news of the Russian advance has reached the Boundary Commission.

AT the Saône et Loire Assizes, a boy of fourteen, named Mazoyer, has been condemned to ten years' detention in a reformatory for brutally murdering Pierre Margain, a child of twelve. A farmer at Montbellet, rejecting the application of Mazoyer's parents, had taken the other little fellow into his service; and, burning with vengeance, the young ruffian one day attacked Margain with a knife, which he had carefully sharpened for the purpose, stabbing him twenty-one times in the head, chiefly in the eyes. Several of the wounds were mortal. Leaving the corpse, Mazoyer returned to his home without betraying the slightest sign of emotion. The jury, while fully recognising the fact that the child-murderer was in full possession of his mental faculties, found "extenuating circumstances."

As showing the interest taken in the Woodstock election, it may be mentioned that no fewer than 600 "result messages"—i. e., telegrams giving the declaration of the poll—were despatched from the little post-office at Woodstock on Friday evening. In addition to this press messages to the extent of over twenty-five thousand words were sent over the telegraph wires. During the progress of the contest some fifteen thousand words a night were sent over on the ordinary Morse instrument by two clerks from Oxford sent to the aid of the Woodstock postmaster. The Conservative agents assisting in the Woodstock election admitted (after the fight was over) that on the previous Monday the prospect seemed to them anything but cheerful. Preparations were forthwith made to carry on the contest with extraordinary vigour. The personal exertions of Lady Randolph Churchill and Lady Curzon and the Blenheim carriages completed the advantages which led to ultimate success.

MR. BARON HUDDLESTON, in the course of summing up a recent case in the Queen's Bench Division, which arose out of Stock Exchange transactions, said that a great deal of condemnation was cast in England on the gambling that went on at Monte Carlo, and had taken place at Homburg and other towns on the Continent; but there, at least, the play took place on the green table, and within the sight of the public. In England, however, where no such public gaming was allowed, gambling in the price of stock took place, out of the sight of the public, for much larger amounts and, perhaps, with much more mischievous results.

SOME curious experiments were made in Paris on the decapitated head of Gagny (the murderer executed the previous day) fifteen minutes after its separation from the trunk. The blood of a dog was infused through the carotid artery, and by titillating the nerves the eyelids became contracted, and movements were visible in the lower jaw. These results were also obtained with the head of Gamahut, Madame Ballerich's murderer; but the doctors at Troyes, where Gagny was executed, pushed their experiments further. Electric currents were applied to the nerves of the face, and caused motion. The trunk was then acted upon by the same forces. The nerves of the hands were visibly affected, and twenty minutes after execution the heart was made to beat. This organ was found to be clogged, owing (it is supposed) to the stoppage of the circulation a few moments before death. The condemned man had, in fact, become livid when brought face to face with the instrument of death, and it was conjectured that the circulation stopped at the moment. The experiments were conducted by five medical men of Troyes.

THE Pall Mall Gazette, commenting upon an article in the Statist on the difficulties of Indian finance, says:—The great adverse facts are these—first, the smaliness of the revenue derived from actual taxation, which amounts to no more than 20 millions sterling annually; secondly, the increased army and railway expenditure called for by the neighbourhood of Russian armies, which is put at 6 millions per annum in excess of what has been usual; thirdly, the tendency of the population to increase so much as to be always on the verge of famine. In case of a real scarcity the so-called famine funds will be found quite inadequate. It may fairly be doubted whether, by hook or by crook, India will not be required to pay ten millions yearly above what it at present spends in Europe. The tribute sent home by India already is so heavy as to be construed by certain theorists as the great cause of all the difficulties of Indian, if not the whole world's trade. Of course, it is absurd to go so far; but the difficulty of keeping down the drain on Indian resources is a serious one. A suggestion is made, in the article above referred to, that India should be given the control of an army recruited from European soldiers, should use it in its own way, and should not be called upon simply to pay a given part of the English forces, while England supplies and regulates the service. The suggestion is a practical one, and the subject altogether calls for attention.

MANY members of Parliament were interested recently in examining a full-sized working model which has been erected in the Conference-room of the House of Commons, of a new style of polling-booth, which claims to provide a simple self-acting mode of ascertaining, with unerring exactness, the result of a parliamentary, municipal, or other election by ballot as soon as the poll is closed whereby complete accuracy is secured, secrecy is fulfilled, and illiterate voters are assisted. Instead of using voting papers as at present, a metal disc or quoit is used numbered consecutively from 1 upwards. The voter will advance to the front of the table of the presiding officer, and on proof that he stands numbered on the register to the satisfaction of the presiding officer, he hands the disc No. 1 to the voter, and directs him to the small secret chamber provided in the same room, where the voter deposits his vote. To assist an illiterate voter each candidate—supposing there are three—previously selects a colour, and the voter, on entering the secret chamber, faces three small doors, painted with these colours. He advances to the door bearing the colour of his candidate, excluding himself by a self-acting process from the other doors, and deposits his vote in a slot prepared for it, while a numbering instrument, covered and sealed, registers the vote for that candidate. More than ten electors can record their vote in one minute at one secret chamber, and several such chambers can be working in the same room if necessary.

SIR CHARLES WILSON, on returning to Mountjoy Barracks, Phœnix Park, from the Soudan, received from the Royal Engineers an enthusiastic welcome. About half a mile from the barracks they removed the horses from his carriage and drew it themselves, the band of the Hibernian School playing. Triumphal arches and mottoes abounded.

THE FLOODS IN CUTTACK.

A LADY correspondent sends us some notes of a voyage made by her from Calcutta to Cuttack during the prevalence of the recent floods. She says:—I was in Calcutta when the floods commenced, but returned to quarters enough to hear and to feel the effects. In the first place when the s. s. Jack, that runs from Chandbally to Cuttack, got to a station, we found that the floods had washed away all the sand round the canal (quite 6 ft. deep) and barred up the lock gates; and as the canal is only wide enough for the steamer to graze through, we could not turn or do anything else but wait for help to come to us. So we stood fast for twenty-four hours. It was a dead-lock, with only the pangs of hunger to enliven us; for we had no provisions on board, and could get none in the station, which is only a jungle. Some Executives went from here, and so did Captain Bullock, the master of the Jack, with two steamers (the latter was the most sensible plan), and while the engineers were digging and clearing the lock gates the captain got back on board the Jack and, by walking a little way, meet the steamers on the other side of the lock. Well, when we had got within a few hundred yards of the landing ghat at Cuttack, the level of the channel was in equal against something the floods had brought down, and as we were going full speed she went over in a twinkling. I was sitting on deck, talking to the captain and his wife, and my "boy" was standing a little way at the back. As soon as the steamer rolled over, the poor man came slap on the back of my chair, and we were all thrown most affectionately one over the other. Captain Bullock jumped up and commenced shouting out some orders to his engineers, all the while holding me up by the arm; and I clung on as tight as I could to a bar or post of some sort near me. The vessel was righted in a very short time, and no damage that I know of was done; but oh! the horrible sensation of standing on your head in the water and hearing the shrieks and cries of 800 souls (coolies for the plantations), and seeing at least ten alligators swimming up ready to devour you. The upset would not have been very dangerous, in that particular spot, to any one over 5 feet—I want just one inch to be quite that height—because the river there was not higher at the low-water mark, and consequently very under-current, and the uncertainty of the river's depth every few feet made matters very ugly. Besides all this, there has been constructed in this part of the river, a few yards away from where the accident occurred, an anicut, through which the waters race along as in a mill dam. They are always in a perfect foam. If the current drew any poor soul that way! While they were trying to right the steamer one that was towing, came flying up with all her force. The men were so confused that they could not cast her off, and she gave us a stunning blow that caused us to think it was all over. Any way here I am. On arriving at Cuttack I found that the floods were so bad, and such danger was apprehended, that four companies of the 32nd M. N. I. and their officers were under arms and on guard at the river's banks. What good they could do by just mounting guard I cannot understand. If they were building embankments or taking any precautionary measures against the flood it would have been, or have been something; but simply watching and waiting for the overflow! Perhaps the British forces, composed in this instance, with the exception of the officers, of pure and pucka Madrassees, thought to wash the dirt off their bodies by the flood, as there was partly flooded. All the bungalows near the river were two feet and more under water. When I came back the garden was converted into a fish-ing ground, and the cook servants made good hauls of fish—even the verandahs were under water. I hear that if the floods had risen one foot more all Cuttack would have been washed away. The roar of the waters could be heard all over Cuttack, and people used to be afraid to go to sleep at night lest they should be washed away in their sleep. Fancy, there is only a wall three feet high that divides our school garden from the river; and you may imagine how comfortable I feel when I see the water coming in through the kutcha wall and hear the roaring of the anicut.

THE QUEEN SPINNING AND WEAVING COMPANY.

AN extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of this company was held yesterday afternoon, under the presidency of Mr. C. Douglas, chairman of the board of directors. Mr. K. M. Heeramanek, one of the agents of the company, read the notice convening the meeting.

The chairman said.—Gentlemen, we have asked you to meet us to-day in consequence of an article which appeared in the Bombay Gazette of the 17th inst. That article referred to some correspondence which has passed between one of the shareholders of this company and your directors, and I think that any person reading it would be inclined to come to those conclusions: first, that the Queen Mill is managed on the old system of a commission of ¼ anna per cent. on production; secondly, that your directors had started work, knowing that the result must be disadvantageous to the shareholders; and thirdly, that the mill is now working at a loss. Now, gentlemen, if such ideas are allowed to get about the inevitable result will be that your property will be depreciated; and we have therefore asked you to come here to-day to hear what your directors have to say on the subject. The only part of this newspaper article to which I wish to refer at present is the part which deals with the payment of commission, and which appears to me to have been written under a misapprehension. The company is not managed on what is known as the ¼ anna system, but there is a sliding scale by which the commission is dependent to a great extent on the profits.—I would call your special attention to the fact that the agents do not get ¼ anna per lb. actuals of the profits, after allowing for depreciation, &c., sufficient to pay a dividend of 9 per cent. If the dividend is 10 per cent. the commission is only 2 pies, and if the dividend is less than 4 per cent. the agents only get 1 pie per lb. The clause regarding depreciation is most important, and very favourable to the shareholders. For my own part I think that the system of paying only on profits is the best, but this arrangement was made before I had anything to do with the company, and as you were aware of it, when you took your shares it cannot call it in question now. This agreement was printed and is annexed to the articles of association. The rest of the article refers to the conduct of the directors, and as it is a personal matter it will be for you to decide whether they should take any action or not. The chairman here read the correspondence which had passed between Mr. Gilbert and the company, and proceeded to say.—I think you will agree with me that the company could be managed satisfactorily if its directors were bound to account for all their actions to each shareholder separately, and that the directors were right in pointing out to Mr. Gilbert that if he considered they had been wrong, his proper course was to call a meeting of the shareholders, as provided for by the company's articles. He has chosen to adopt another course, for reasons best known to himself. What those reasons are I cannot say. They can scarcely be pecuniary, as he only holds one share. Be that as it may, the directors feel that if they are to be continued in office, with legal responsibilities and personal responsibility, they cannot continue to conduct the affairs of the company satisfactorily. As Mr. Gilbert has brought a newspaper into the controversy, it is evident that he desires publicity, and therefore the directors have asked you to meet them to-day, and to say whether they have your confidence or not. Should your answer be unfavourable, I, for one, will at once tender my resignation, without any fear as to that personal responsibility for my past actions with which I have been threatened. The charge against us as directors, is that when the mill was started we were animated by sinister motives knew that it must result in a loss. We deny this; but before proceeding to explain the present position of the company, I must put before you the alternatives between which we had to choose. Those were to start the mill or keep it idle until more prosperous times arrived. Now, if any one supposes that by keeping a mill idle the shareholders are insured against loss, they are very much mistaken. There are certain fixed charges which must be incurred, such as wages of Europeans under engagement to the company, interest on capital debt, fire insurance, taxes, &c.—I have made out a list of them,—Insurance, Rs. 400; wages, Rs. 935; interest, Rs. 1,500; office charges, Rs. 300; total Rs. 3,135. In addition to this, provision would have to be made to keep the machinery clean and, as far as possible, to avoid deterioration. I have obtained estimates from a reliable source as to the cost of keeping the machinery clean and in order during the monsoon. The chairman here read a letter from the manager of a mill, and said.—From this you will see that if the mill had not been started when the contractors delivered it we would have had to meet an estimated expenditure of—Fixed charges per month, Rs. 3,135; coal and wages, Rs. 1,200; deterioration on Rs. 6,00,000 machinery, one per cent. per month, Rs. 6,000; total Rs. 10,335 during the monsoon months, all which would have been dead loss. Gentlemen, this is what the result might have been if we had not started the mill; but we did start it, and I will now endeavour to show you what the result of our action has been. At the start we were met by some unexpected difficulties. Two of the men sent out from England for the working of the mill had to be dismissed, and the men sent out by the machinists to set up the engine shared the same fate. The consequence of this was that we had not power available to grind the cards in proper time, and they gave us a great deal of trouble. Everything possible was done to put things right, and for some time one of your directors, who has had great experience as a mill manager, went to the mill daily for some hours, at great inconvenience to himself. I am happy to say that all is now working well, and we have secured the services of a first-rate carding master. In the mule room we were more fortunate, as the spinning master sent out from England, Mr. Broadbent, has given us the most perfect satisfaction, and the mules were well set up by the machinist man. It was, however, soon discovered that a mistake had been made in the original order sent home, and it was necessary to change some of the wheels in order to get a higher speed out of the mules. An order for the new wheels was at once sent home, and they have now arrived. With the first wheels we could only produce about 5 oz. per spindle per day, but when the new ones are put in we hope to get 5½ oz. During the months of March, April, and May we were busy grinding the cards and getting the machinery of the mill gradually brought into work and during that time we could scarcely hope to make a profit. The accounts for three months have not yet been completed, so that I am unable to say what the actual result was; but the agents have had an approximate statement drawn out from June, which was the first month of what could really be called full work. As you are aware this month was called somewhat suddenly and there has not been time to get the accounts audited; but the figures I will now give have been carefully worked out by your agents. I have checked them as far as possible myself, and I believe they may be accepted as correct. They show that in the month of June the mill produced 229,891 lbs. of No. 20 yarn costing Rs. 5-9-72 per lb., and the average price at which we sold was Rs. 9-0-81 per lb., which leaves a profit of Rs. 3,699-13 to which must be added the value of waste in hand, Rs. 1,227-11-7, or a total gain of Rs. 4,927-8-7 for the month. From this, however, must be deducted the wages of Europeans under agreement per lb. equal to Rs. 1,197, or a net gain of Rs. 3,730-3 for the month. The working expenses include all charges incurred and they are particularly heavy from June, as we had to lay in a stock of cotton for the monsoon on which interest and fire insurance has to be paid. When cotton becomes plentiful both these charges will be reduced. I have already mentioned the fact that the new wheels to enable us to run the mules up to 6½ drams a minute have arrived, and our spinning master informs me that when they are fitted he hopes to get 5½ oz. per spindle, which at 25 working days a month will give us a return of 257,812 lbs., against 229,891 last month; while our expenses would be the same, except a small addition to the reeling, bundling, and baling; and this would give us a very considerable increase of profit. Our hope of getting this profit is of course based upon a continuance of the cost of cotton and the price of yarn such as prevailed in June, but I think we have every reason to hope that things will at least not become worse. We have contracts on hand which will keep the mill going for two months, and which show a fair margin of profit. As you are all aware the mill industry in Bombay is at present in a very depressed state, but you possess a mill of the latest and best construction, and I feel confident that there is every prospect of our being able to make a profit, even in the present state of the market, and we may hope that more prosperous times are not far distant.

Mr. F. Hooper said that the explanation given by the chairman was entirely satisfactory. He thought that the newspaper article to which the circular had appeared should be called upon to say why such a statement had been given the prominence of the editorial column. The speaker then moved "That the statement just read by the chairman be accepted, and that the action of the board and of the management be approved of Further, that this meeting desires to express its entire confidence in the board and the agents of the company."

Mr. E. Schoen seconded the resolution, which was carried nem. con.

The chairman here informed the shareholders that a telegram had been received from Kobe, Japan, that the yarn manufactured in their mill had been sold at 79½ dollars for No. 20's, which was the top price now ruling in the market.

The proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

Drs. Engler and Jansz are, by the exercise of their peculiar skill, doing a great deal of good in Bangalore. We have paid a casual visit to Dr. Engler's surgery to see for ourselves what is being done in the way of cures. Of course we speak unprofessionally, but we do not know that professional knowledge is required to judge as to results when seeing and hearing of patients themselves are freely allowed. Three cases of blindness, two nearly total, and one total in one eye, were, according to the testimony of the sufferers themselves, progressing with wonderful favourableness. One in which inflammation and granulation of the inner surface of the eyelids had lasted for months, and had caused ulceration of the eye-ball, was almost cured after about a fortnight's treatment, although previous treatment had failed to give relief. In another case, where both eyes were seriously affected the patient was considerably better, and in the one in which the sight of one eye had been lost, it was restored, and though not completely recovered, was on a fair way towards it. This patient freely and without effort read from a newspaper with the injured eye, though no sight whatever was in it a few days previous. In cases of deafness Dr. Engler seems even more certain of success than in blindness. One little girl, who had been deaf for years, was restored so far as to be able to hold a conversation in ordinary tones; she heard the softest spoken words and answered to them, and heard the ticking of a watch held from four to six inches from her ears. Two soldiers belonging to the garrison, suffering from deafness, have been cured; one, a man who had been in hospital for weeks and been blistered and put to great pain by ordinary treatment, perfectly recovered his hearing in twenty-four hours.

We are quite aware that any detailed notice of such cures as these are apt to be looked at askance by the general public. But this, we fancy, is the result of the infrequency of such notices. Why men who benefit the suffering members of the public, as Drs. Engler and Jansz are undoubtedly doing, should receive no attention from the press, when whole columns are given up to descriptions of the tricks of some travelling juggler, it would be, perhaps, hard to explain. It is a fact, however, that, while the public naturally has to pay for both, the one who does most good is the least noticed.—Bangalore Spectator, Dec. 1883.

GANDY'S AMERICAN COTTON BELTING

TO those having the use and care of machinery it is of the greatest importance to know what is the best belting to use to transmit power To such and to all the answer is, USE THE GANDY BELT.

It has imitators, and this is the strongest proof possible, that is an article that is worth spending cash on to imitate. If it were a worthless article, or one that had not been VERY SUCCESSFUL, no one would go to the expense and trouble to imitate it. Imitation is the strongest form of flattery, and those who imitate the "GANDY" belt are proclaiming to all belt users, that the GANDY belt is the best that has ever been put before the public.

The GANDY belt has acquired such a deservedly high reputation, that belt users, after having tried all others, come back to Gandy and declare that, notwithstanding the difference in price, they find it to their advantage to use the American Cotton Belt made, only by the inventor and patentee.
